Day's Subscriptions Here Are $43,886,200, a Slight Gain Over Friday.

More than one billion dollars already has been thrown into Uncle Sam's war chest the first week of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign for $6,000,000,000 total subscriptions for the country being announced as $1,057,611,650. The apparent unwillingness to lend to the Government is reflected in the fact that the aggregate announced last night is only 18.29 per cent, of the total to be

A note of gloom was sounded in the headquarters review, which says:

"While the actual sales through all arencies probably are-somewhat in excess of this figure, the results obtained in the drive thus far are not highly eccouraging. The campaign now has gone through seven working days remain. Approximately $5,000,000,000 in subscriptions still must be raised if the total amount asked by Secretary Mc-Adoo is obtained. The daily average which must be achieved between now and October 19 in order to put the loan over the top is about $416,000,000."

Based on the official figures announce the previous day and would indicate an

Although the larger towns and cities have been slower to win honor flags in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign than in the previous loan drives, these communities are rapidly falling in line. Following the award of a flag to Cohoes, the first city of 25,000 or more population to reach its quota, the towns of 15,000 population claimed flags. They are Garfield and Philipsburg, both in New Jersey. Honor flags were awarded yesterday to Philipsburg, Mendham, Roxberg and Garfield, N. J., and Hillburn, N. Y. Honor Emblems for Families. With a view to stimulating interest the loan honor emblems will be awarded to every family in the New York Federal Reserve district that can show that all its members have purchased one or more bonds. This is the first time that honor emblems have been given to families. The family "figs" will be a slip of paper six inches square with a bold red circle in the centre, inside of which are the words: "One Hundred Per Cent. Household."

Industrial honor flags were sawarded yesterday to fifty-two industrial plants, all of which, with the exception of five, had reported a subscription of 100 per cent. by their employees.

Enemy Lacks Copper and Brass, Captured Arms Show.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 .- Browning machine guns, long the subject of a bitter army controversy, have met all tests and are so highly regarded by the allied armies in France that the British and French have asked that any surplus production be turned over to them. Report to this effect was made to the War De-partment to-day by Brig-Gen. Samuel McRoberts, head of the procurement division of the Ordnance Department.

The Browning is being delivered in quantities to the American forces abroad. The modified Enfield rifle used by the American armies in France is coming up to expectations, Gen. McRoberts reported and the soldiers are enthusiastic about it. Gen. McRoberts had this interesting statement to make about captured enemy ordnance material:

"We were particularly interested to find out whether this captured material showed any improvements or changes in tillery taken from the enemy in recent lles' arms.

"On the other hand, it was interesting to note by examination of the catured pieces that the enemy wherever possible is using substitutes for the metals other than steel, notably for branch and copper. This indicates the necessitation is under of conserving carefully a supply of copper and brass."
